Parent / Teacher Student Goal Setting Meetings:
Over the last few weeks teachers have been inviting parents to participate in meetings to develop student’s short term learning goals. Together, teachers and parents decide what your child needs to work on during the year. Your child will still participate in lessons based on the National curriculum, but they will also focus on key goals which are specific to them. Your child’s progress toward these goals will be continuously monitored. The goals may seem big initially but they are broken down into small achievable steps. This is a great opportunity for parents to work with teachers and make important decisions regarding their child’s education.

Rule Cards:
Thanks to Cath Bailey, our wonderful P&C president we have been able to send each child home with a set of post card size school rule posters. We have been practicing these each day at school and would be grateful if parents could practice using these same rules with children at home. If we all use the same language children will learn to apply these rules in all settings. These rules are designed to set children up for success across their whole life.
